

Tony Militello, PE, CSP

Mr. Militello currently serves as the Director, Occupational Safety and Health on the Secretary of the Navy staff. In that role, Mr. Militello is responsible for overseeing, directing and providing advocacy for all matters related to the Department of the Navy (DoN) Occupational Safety and Health Program. As the senior Department of the Navy career occupational safety and health civilian, Mr. Militello also manages the Department's Civilian Safety Professional Community. Mr. Militello began his current assignment on the Secretary of the Navy staff in June 2015.

Mr. Militello is a career civil servant who began his career in 1995 with Naval Facilities Engineering Command (NAVFAC), with whom he worked from 1995 until 2003 as a fire protection engineer in regional in Charleston, SC, Washington, DC, and Naples, Italy. Mr. Militello also worked from 2003 until 2005 as a fire protection engineer with the General Services Administration in the National Capitol Region.

In 2005 Mr. Militello returned to NAVFAC as the Safety Program Manager and was the senior technical subject matter expert responsible for planning, developing, coordinating, administering and evaluating the performance and compliance of all aspects of a global Safety and Occupational Health (SOH) Program, which included the oversight of over 19,000 employees and over $11B in annual maintenance, construction, demolition and repair contract work.

Mr. Militello is a licensed Professional Engineer, Certified Safety Professional and Acquisition Corps Member. Mr. Militello is a Fellow with the Society of Fire Protection Engineers (SFPE) and currently serves as the chairman of the SFPE Standing Committee on Professional Qualifications. Mr. Militello is an adjunct faculty member at the University of Maryland at College Park where he teaches a professional development seminar in their Fire Protection Engineering Department. Mr. Militello holds a Bachelor of Science and Master of Engineering in fire protection engineering from the University of Maryland at College Park and a Masters of Public Administration from American University.